A TURKISH WATCH. -The greatest curios ity in the watch line, is a Turkish watch belonging to our young friend P. Linke, of this city. Mr. L. sent for it, especially—and we presume it cannot be duplicated in this country. It has a front and back crystal of heavy cut glass; the hands, of solid gold are larger than the hands on our watches. It is wound up without a key and the whole affair elegantly finished up in a rich gold frame. The curious, no doubt, will trouble Mr. Linke muchly for some time.
